

PLUCKY YOUTH HOLDS TO REINS

Warren Hughes Hurt
by a Horse.

Shoulder Dislocated and His Face and Body Lacerated by Hoofs.

Clings to the Lines Despite His Injuries, Until Kicking Horse Was Thrown to Ground.

Warren Hughes, a delivery boy of this city had an exciting experience with a kicking horse Thursday evening which came near resulting fatally. In the encounter his shoulder was dislocated, his left shin, his face and side all bearing ugly traces of the horse's iron shoe.

About dusk last evening Hughes and his employer hitched up a new horse to the wagon and set out to give him a trial before making the purchase. For half an hour the animal trotted along in fine shape and gave every sign of gentility.

The Trouble Begins.
Captivated by his willingness and believing that the animal would make an excellent delivery horse, the would-be purchaser started home intent upon making the bargain.

On turning the corner of Ninth East and Fifth South the horse ran into some wire, tangling up his front feet. The excited animal jumped straight up in the air and began kicking furiously. The kicking horse was snatched like a linen thread and two more terrible lunge served to demolish the single-tree and both hold-backs. Hughes still tugged away at the reins, while his employer looked on aghast at the uncontrollable brute.

His Shoulder Dislocated.
The horse's next lunge caught the employer, splitting open his knee cap and inducing him to seek water quarters than those directly behind the horse's heels.
The next blow landed on Hughes' chest, knocking him to the ground. The kicking horse was snatched like a linen thread and two more terrible lunge served to demolish the single-tree and both hold-backs. Hughes still tugged away at the reins, while his employer looked on aghast at the uncontrollable brute.

MAGNIFICENT BRAVERY.

Russian Gunners Went Down by the Hundreds at Ta Tehe Kiao.

LONDON, July 29.—The Daily Mail's New Chinese correspondent in a long description of the battle of Ta Tehe Kiao, which mainly repeats the details already known, says it was not until the Japanese attacked all along their front that the Russians retreated.

The Japanese artillery was immeasurably superior and their shrapnel frantically destructive. Russian gunners went down by hundreds, but their guns were fought with magnificent bravery.

The Russian officers, the correspondent adds, speak in the highest terms of the bravery of their men. They say Russia already has lost one campaign owing to the recklessness of the Czar's advisers, but that she must have Manchuria and that she is now preparing for another campaign.

Did Not Steal Any Property.

SALT, Nev., July 28.—George Perkins, speaking for himself and William Lamb, denies that they were arrested for stealing property belonging to the Horseshoe Mining company. "The simple truth is," he said, "that we did not take any property belonging to any one, but were authorized by the President of the Shawmut and Nevada Mining and Milling company to sell some property which belonged exclusively to that company."

STORY OF AN ACTRESS.

How Ethel Barrymore Almost Missed
Her Train.

Manager Sam Myer of the Ethel Barrymore company arrived from the coast yesterday and will remain several weeks. He tells a very good story on the young star which has not heretofore appeared in print. It happened in Washington, D. C., when Miss Barrymore appeared there.

It is the custom among theatrical people, when about to leave town, to name an hour when the transfer wagon can get the baggage of the different members of the company from their hotels.

The hour at Washington was set for 2 p. m., and Miss Barrymore was staying at the New Willard.

Pretty soon while the matinee was going on, word came behind that the New Willard had refused to allow Miss Bar-rymore's trunks to be moved. She was justly incensed and so was the manager.

"Did you pay your hotel bill?" asked the latter.

"No, indeed," she replied, "I did not think it necessary."

So the manager hurried over to the hotel to pay the bill and remonstrate with the clerk, but that official denied any knowledge of the affair. The porter was called and asked for the explanation. He stated that the trunks would certainly have been moved, but when the men went up to the door they found a card pinned on it which read, "Under no circumstances to be disturbed before 11 o'clock."

This notice is often pinned on the door of those who have to secure the full value of rest while on the road, and the maid had forgotten to remove it when Miss Barrymore's rounds at noon. The porter thought it must mean 11 o'clock that night.

But the friends of the actress are always pleased when relating how Miss Barrymore's baggage was held by a hotel, and she was not the only one who was.

"Will you help me find my husband?" was the appeal made by Mrs. May Vatt of Murray last evening to the desk sergeant of the police office.

Last Monday morning while I was in Salt Lake Bertha Curtis, formerly Bertha Gates of this city, went out to my home and enticed my husband away. And she got him to hire a fine rubber tire rig and then they came to Salt Lake.

My husband came home. Now I want you officers to go with me and search for him. I just want to come to an understanding with her if she wants my husband she can have him for I don't want any more of him.

The desk sergeant explained that in the first place the officers didn't know where to find the couple and even if they did that they would be helpless to do anything. He advised her to go home and explained that all she could do was to institute divorce proceedings.

CIRCUS NOVELTY.

Ringling Brothers Present a Gorgeous Dramatic Spectacle, Introducing 1200 Characters.

Jerusalem and the Crusades, Ringling Brothers' sublime, beautiful and instructive spectacular production, is adapted from the religious and historical story of which every man, woman and child in the civilized countries of the world is familiar.

No other narrative of Christian history, with the exception of those treating directly of the birth and life of Jesus, is of such thrilling interest to people of all classes as is the Crusades, on which Ringling Brothers' magnificent spectacular production is based.

King, queens, princes, lords, nobles, knights, courtiers, soldiers, functionaries, church officials, attendants, pilgrims, theologians, students, serfs, vassals, all the panorama of the grand epoch of incident and action, the grand cathedral at Clermont, France, from which the historic Crusades started upon their holy mission, is pictured before the eyes of the audience.

The Egyptian ruler at the time of the Crusades, is portrayed with voluptuous fidelity, and presents in his passing incidents the most bewitching expansion of the imagination. In this scene is an original conception, and more entrancingly beautiful than any dancing conceit ever invented and im-ployed in evolving the legends of ancient and modern times.

The grand figures of the novel ballet artists, graduated from the best masters of the terpsichorean art, lithely and sensitively practicing in the highest and most delightful effects in dancing study. The barbaric splendors of the Egyptian court are revealed in this scene, and the scale of magnificence and expenditure never before attempted. This prodigious display of medieval luxury and Oriental extravagance is only in keeping with the progressive policy of the Ringling Brothers, who have enlarged and improved every department of their enormous shows, by far the greatest in existence, until now they appear to have reached the climax of human possibility. The great shows will exhibit in Salt Lake City Wednesday, August 3, and give two performances only, in the afternoon at 2 o'clock and in the evening at 8 o'clock.

ELECTRIC STORM STRIKES CITY

Boy Thrown From Wheel

Several Trees Rent by the Lightning Scatter Wood
Over Sidewalks.

Workmen Pierce Cable and Put Telephone Out of Commission in Enlarging Culvert.

That rain people have been praying for a month past got here Thursday.
And it was welcome, even though it did tie up the street car lines for an hour, shatter some trees and put 200 telephones out of business.

Properly speaking it was not the rain which stopped the street cars and shattered the trees, but the lightning by which it was accompanied. And in the matter of the telephones, the shower was only the indirect cause. But if the damage had been twice as great it would have been welcome.

BABY'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Little Child of Chaplain Axton Caught by Car.

Just how the two-year-old daughter of Chaplain and Mrs. John T. Axton escaped instant death last Sunday night under the wheels of a Sixth street car is looked upon as little less than miraculous by those who witnessed the accident. It was in the early evening, and the little girl, in company with other children, was playing about the yard.

Unnoticed she ran out of the yard and into the middle of the street just as a rapidly approaching car reached the crossing. There is a steep incline leading to the track in front of the Axton home, and down this the baby slipped, directly under the car.

Motorman Moss, in charge of the car, saw the little girl, and those who witnessed the accident say that the cool judgment displayed by him was admirable, and had it not been for his quick work the little life would surely have been crushed out. He put on brakes and reversed the car with such rapidity that passengers aboard said it seemed the car stood in mid-air. Even then the child was caught under the fender and dragged four or five feet before the car came to a standstill.

Several men in the immediate vicinity who saw the accident from their front porches ran at once to the car, expecting to find the baby mangled under the wheels. The face and head were covered with blood and scratches and cuts, but aside from these and a few bruises on the body the little girl was uninjured and was out at the lake yesterday, apparently having as good a time as any child.

Chaplain and Mrs. Axton are here on a two months' furlough, having returned from the Philippines on account of Mr. Axton's health. They are known here, which was formerly their home.

Burglars Are Foiled.
Burglars entered the home of Mrs.
Lawson, 815 East Fifth South, about dark last evening, when the storm was at its fiercest. They evidently suspected that no one would disturb them until the rain had subsided, but luckily one of the members of the family was just next door and happened to think that the occasion demanded his attention at home.

The burglars heard the click of the gate and hastened to make their escape good by immediate flight, and consequently the police were furnished with no definite description of the marauders. A subsequent investigation showed no important losses.
